LADY ASTOR HOLDS LEVEE IN SENATE

Sits First, as a Virginian, on Democratic Side, Then Visits
the Republican.

CALLS AT WHITE HOUSE

President and Mrs. Harding
Also Receive Delegates to Women Voters' Convention.

Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD.

New York Herald Bureau,
Washington, D. C., April 29.

President and Mrs. Harding received about one thousand delegates to the National League of Women Voters convention this afternoon at the White House. Among those with whom the President and his wife shook hands were thirty-four women from South and Central America, who came to the Pan-American conference.

Viscount and Lady Astor visited the White House in the morning in company with Senator Hale of Maine. They called on the President in his office and afterward talked with Mrs. Harding. When Lady Astor met George B. Christian, the President's secretary, she called him a "renegade" for changing his party affiliations.

While at the White House to-day Lady Astor met Senator Lodge and had another chat with him later at the Capitol. She reached the Senate Chamber at five minutes after 12, entering on the arm of Senator Claude Swanson of Virginia, who conducted her to a seat on the Democratic side. The Hon. Mrs. Alfred Littleton entered with Senator John Sharp Williams and Viscount Astor with Senator Hitchcock.

Just before she reached the Senate Chamber Lady Astor encountered Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi. She shook her finger at him and reminded him that he had opposed woman suffrage and she had not forgotten it.

On the settee in the Senate Chamber she sat between Senators Williams and Swanson, and then was taken to the Republican side of the hall, where she held a reception. Among those who chatted with her were Senators Kellogg, Odell, Ladd, McKinley, Townsend, Newberry, Gooding and Nicholson, who shook her hand with great vigor.

It was noted that she said to Senator Lodge that she did not like his convictions, but that she admired him for sticking to them. Senator Lodge smiled. The party went into the President's room and then visited the rotunda and various galleries. While making the tour Lady Astor encountered forty flappers from a Germantown high school. "What are you doing here?" she asked them as they made way for her. "Seeing the sights," one of the girls replied.

"Well, look at us," commanded Lady Astor, taking Lord Astor by the arm. "For whom are you going to vote, men or women?" was her next query. "There really isn't any difference," she said, answering herself.

In the evening Lady Astor was the principal guest at a reception given by the league at the new national headquarters. All the officers and leaders in the movement were present except Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, who returned from Baltimore Friday, the last day of the convention sessions there, and Miss Mary Garrett Hay.

SUICIDE OF SCHLOSS MYSTIFIES HIS FRIENDS

No Apparent Reason for Ending His Life.

Acquaintances of Charles Schloss, who committed suicide by drinking carbolic acid in the home of his friend, David K. Este, at 42 West Eighty-eighth street Friday, cannot explain the young man's action. Both his parents are dead, and his nearest relatives are Daniel Guggenheim, an uncle, and Mrs. Jacob Wertheim of 182 West Fifty-eighth street, an aunt. Mr. Guggenheim is absent from the city and Mrs. Wertheim refuses to discuss the case in any manner whatsoever.

Schloss was a friend of Elmer G. Drewes, a Dartmouth College student, who was murdered in Philadelphia in 1920. He figured as the "man of mystery" in the case for some time, but convinced the police he knew nothing of the crime.

Schloss was 24, unmarried and possessed of means to live in comfort without working.

The body has been removed from the Knickerbocker Hospital, but the authorities refused to say by whom it was claimed.

HARDING SHUTS OUT 'AMNESTY' CHILDREN

President Refuses to See Little Pilgrims Led by Kate
Richards O'Hare.

Special Dispatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD.

New York Herald Bureau,
Washington, D. C., April 29.

President Harding to-day refused to see the group of children brought to Washington in the crusade for the liberation of so-called political prisoners. Thirty of the children were taken to the White House in automobiles. They came to Washington from Baltimore. Upon arrival at the White House they received picketing banners and marshaled in line to march in. The procession was turned aside by White House policemen, who enforced the rule against the bringing of banners, flags, packages or any sort of bundle into the house or grounds.

After leaders of the children captivated and laid aside the banners the little ones were received by Secretary Christian. He directed them to Attorney-General Daugherty, and gave assurance that the Attorney-General would give to them every consideration.

Arriving in Washington just before noon, the delegation, headed by Kate Richards O'Hare of St. Louis, who attracted attention by her activities during the war, went direct to the White House. The procession of automobiles was made conspicuous by banners bearing such legends as "The Huns Have No Political Prisoners," "Democracy and Political Prisoners Do Not Mix," "No Profiteer Went to Prison," "Shall Justice Die" and "Only Workers Go to Prison."

When the procession was turned aside at the gates, picketing was commenced. The picketers marched slowly the length of the White House grounds. Later a committee composed of Mrs. Charles Edward Russell and Miss Mary Gertrude Mendall of the local committee of the American Civil Liberties Union entered the executive offices, seeking an interview with the President. They were referred to the Attorney-General.

Secretary Christian explained that the policy of the Administration as hitherto expressed will be to consider the cases of the so-called political prisoners individually. There will be no general amnesty, he stated.

WIFE NO. 4 IDENTIFIES LE CLAIR IN CELL

Former Bertha Haves Ready to Prosecute Him.

POUGHKEEPSIE, April 29.—Mrs. Bertha

Maud Haves Le Clair, alleged to be wife No. 4 of John Lawrence Le Clair, faced the man in the county jail here to-day and identified him as the man who married her in Poughkeepsie several weeks ago.

"Yes, he's the man," was the only remark she made. Le Clair admitted to Chief of Police Sheedy he had married the woman.

Mrs. Le Clair, who came here from Albany, stated she was going to apply for an annulment of the marriage and also told District Attorney Aldrich she would be glad to testify against Le Clair on a bigamy charge.

CAROLINA NEGRO SAFE IN FOREIGN REFUGE

Fearing Ku Klux, Canadian Friends Aided His Flight.

HAMILTON, Ont., April 29.—Belief of rumors that the Ku Klux Klan had pledged to kidnap him and take him back to Norfolk, N. C., to face charges of murder and inciting to riot has caused Matthew Bullock, American citizen, to seek refuge on another continent, his friends declared to-day. Bullock evaded extradition to Norfolk on two occasions.

The Rev. J. D. Howell, who led the campaign for funds to fight the negro's extradition, said these rumors had worried Bullock a great deal. He added that to-day he had received word from Bullock of his safe arrival at the haven of refuge.

The Rev. Howell refused to reveal Bullock's place of refuge. Funds for his journey, it was reported, were supplied from the defense chest.

WATER STREAM PIERCES EAR.

RIVERHEAD, April 29.—Frank Benjamin, youngest son of Dr. and Mrs. F. Everett Benjamin of Riverhead, received a puncture of the eardrum last evening, when his ear was struck by the full force of a stream of water.

Frank, who is 14 years old, is the foreman of the North Riverdale Juvenile Fire Company, which was out practicing with its hose line. The boy has been in great pain since the accident. According to his father he may lose the hearing of the ear.

BOTTOMLEY INVITES TORTURE, IF GUILTY

Publisher of 'John Bull' Makes Dramatical Denial of $1-000,000 Fraud Charges.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK HERALD.

Copyright, 1922, by THE NEW YORK HERALD.

New York Herald Bureau,
London, April 29.

Calling himself "the King's chief recruiting agent" Horatio Bottomley, former member of Parliament and publisher of John Bull, dramatically declared that if the charges that he had converted Victory Bond Club funds to his own use were true, "then, when my turn comes to cross the barrier, may all the tortures of the damned be visited upon my soul."

He was committed for trial under $50,000 bail on charges of having diverted nearly $1,000,000 in subscriptions to the Victory Bond Club, of which he is the founder and president.

The court was crowded when Bottomley gave out a statement to the press, promising that he would clear up all the transactions, and declared the charges utterly false, and that the prosecution had been "exploiting a veritable mare's nest."

Bottomley's club attracted principally the poorer class, and thousands of dependents upon soldiers, a great many of whom are trying to get the money they deposited. Bottomley said his business had been interrupted and brought to the brink of financial ruin by the charges and defied any one to "detect an iota of evidence of fraudulent intent upon my part in dealing with these clubs." He said, with the greatest of feeling:

"I have endeavored to bear up under the stigma of these charges with fortitude born of the knowledge I have done no wrong. I consecrated my whole being to the service of my countrymen who fought and fell in the cause. And you are asked to believe that all the time I have been scheming to rob them of their savings—I, who stood by the boys in the trenches, sat by their sides in dressing stations, doing my best to comfort them; held their hands in base hospitals as they passed into eternity—scheming all the time to rob them and their families of their gold."

"Was there ever born of woman a creature made of such base stuff as to be capable of such a crime? You shall scour the country, but you will never impanel a jury which will say that Horatio Bottomley could be guilty of so cruel a crime against God and man."

SPEEDERS HELP A HOSPITAL.

Motorists Called On to Contribute
After Being Fined.

LAKEWOOD, N. J., April 29.—The funds of the Paul Kimball Hospital have been added to this week by the suggestions of Justice of the Peace Myer to automobile speeders that in addition to paying their fines they make a contribution to the hospital. For a week when persons have been arraigned before the Justice of the Peace charged with speeding they would be fined $6 if found guilty.

"And now how about a contribution to the hospital?" the Justice of the peace would ask. There were few refusals.
